

Sabry Saied

Sabry is the Editor-in-Chief of the respected book series "The Story of Egypt," published by the General Authority for Cultural Palaces under the Ministry of Culture. He is also a writer and political analyst for Al-Ahram newspaper, producing numerous influential works in politics and intellectual thought.

His extensive career in cultural administration includes roles such as the First Undersecretary of the Ministry of Culture, where he led the Cultural Relations Sector and the General Authority for Cultural Palaces. He has also chaired the Permanent Committee for Education, Science, and Culture at ALECSO, representing Egypt on various international platforms.

Sabry's contributions to the cultural landscape extend to his involvement in international cultural exchanges, serving as the official representative for both the Egyptian-Russian and Egyptian-Chinese committees. His leadership experience is further highlighted by positions such as Director of the Cairo Directorate of Culture and the Press Office at the Cairo Opera House.

As a committed member of the Egyptian Writers Union, Sabry remains a strong advocate for cultural advancement and artistic expression, significantly shaping Egypt's cultural narrative.
